

WISBROEK UNIVERSAL HANDFEEDING

SUITABLE FOR:

Handfeeding small (tropical) birds, including canaries.

Wisbroek Universal Handfeeding is specially developed as Handfeeding food for young (tropical) birds, including canaries. It can also be used as force-feeding for sick or straggling young birds.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Handfeeding may be necessary if, for example, the parent bird dies or the parents refuse to feed. If there are several youngsters in one brood, it may happen that the youngest one is not fed enough by the parents. It will then have to be fed by hand.

Wisbroek Universal Handfeeding is a natural, energy-rich handfeeding food. It has been specially developed on a scientific basis to feed small birds. The recipe of Wisbroek Universal Handfeeding contains special building blocks such as certified blood plasma. This promotes the development of muscle tissue. Vitamin A and natural vitamins K1 and K2 support a healthy bone matrix and optimal bone structure. In addition, they promote the growth of the embryo. Finally, the probiotic in Wisbroek Universal Handfeeding supports the resistance of the birds. The feed is easily digestible.

Universal Handfeeding has an extra fine structure and is therefore suitable to be given via a crop needle (0.8 mm).
